As an individual who uses computers frequently, I believe that Microsoft has an unfair advantage in the computer industry and possesses a monopoly in several areas of the industry. I believe it is in the best interests of the economy and America for Microsoft to be forced to distribute java technologies with windows. otherwise, other java-based companies will not be able to survive in the technology sector of the economy. America has always been about free trade and equal opportunity. Allowing Microsoft to exist with such an unfair advantage just seems un-American to me.
